

Pork Butt Weekly Write-Up

Intro

Oh, you sumbitches we are out of the Honeymoon, and entering the Grind. Bye weeks start this week which means anxiety levels will be higher, more shits to give, and tears to shed. In the NFL, this week the Cowboys struggled, but did beat the Giants in a close game. Da Bears played sloppy but outlasted a resilient Rams team (to be honest, Nacua and Cupp play in this game, Bears lose it). The Vikings got out to a huge lead against the Packers, only to hang on and win by two. Zha Raiders managed a hapless Browns and cruised to a five-point victory. Seahawks made a game against the Lions (early on, this was looking to be a route by Detroit) but eventually fell short.

Game of the Week

Josh vs Sky

This was a great game to follow this week. Coming out Sunday's game, there was two points separating them. Going into MNF, they were even closer as one point separated them. Sky was looking to rebound from his first loss last week as Josh was looking to stop the losing streak. Going into the last moments of MNF, the two-point lead went back and forth between them. Leading scorers for both teams Nico Collins's thirty-three points for Josh, and Jayden Daniels's twenty-six points. All said and done, Sky increased the two-point lead to finish with a 114-108 victory.

Matchups

Brandon vs Rich

The battle to dethrone the last unbeaten is what defined this game. However, due to some unfortunate injuries on Brandon's team, Rich was able to overcome a ten-point deficit heading into MNF and remain the league's only unbeaten team with a 110-108.50 victory.

Jason vs Mike

Few fireworks in this matchup to be honest. This was a simple, here is my ten players vs your ten players type of matchup. Mike led the way from whistle to whistle and came out with a modest 119-94.5 victory. Settings both teams at a 2-2 record.

Dave vs Jake

Heading into SNF Dave had a comfortable twenty-two-point lead. That was until Derrek Fucking Henry put his helmet on and went to work. Quickly closing that thirty-two-point gap, Jake was able to finish SNF with a twelve-point lead. Heading into MNF, Dave had one player to strap up and give it a go. Enter Monty, who was able to put up his average of fifteen and give Dave the victory with a 133.5-132 victory.

Andrew vs Dino

Andrew led early (exceedingly early) in this matchup but when Dino finally decided to start scoring, he could not stop. Like a sex-addict at a whore house Dino was able to score often, and when he wanted (he must have stretched). Outlasting the calf cramp (happens to guys his age), Dino rocked and rolled in this matchup ended it with a confident 162-118 victory earning Dino highest scored points for the week (a meaningless honor).

Playoffs

If the playoffs start this week, here are the six teams that would get in. These are in no order, just top six teams.

Rich

Sky

Dino

Brandon

Jason

Mike

The Sack

The race for the best hat on Earth has begun, and these teams are leading the way.

- Andrew

Toppers

POS	NAME	POINTS
QB	Jackson	27
RB	Henry	35
WR	Collins	33
TE	Kittle	14
FLEX	Kamara	24
D/ST	Raiders	12
K	Moody	12
TEAM	Dino	164

Draft Order

1. Andrew
2. Josh
3. Jake
4. Dave
5. Jason
6. Brandon
7. Mike
8. Dino
9. Sky
10. Rich

Final Handy

Brandon was not able to dethrone Rich (simply due to in-game injuries), as he remains alone, at the top. Next up is Dino with the task. Can he, do it? History points that Dino is like Kurt Cousins, struggles with Prime-Time games, as early projections have Dino a thirty-point favorite. I will be keeping a close eye on this matchup. The league is starting to separate the wheat from the chaff as we head into the Grind. A crucial part of the season as teams jostle to put up lineups and manage players on bye weeks. Ground will be lost and gained during the next five weeks, only time will tell who is worthy. With that, may your beer be cold, Karma finds you today, and fuck your team....'mish out.