

Pork Butt Weekly Write-Up

Intro

Man, we had some interesting games this week in the NFL as we all saw Detroit rape the Bears in Detroit. Cowboys outlasted a shitty Giants team with two kicks late (regulation, and overtime). Packers beat a good Washington team at Green Bay. Seattle managed Pittsburgh, in Pittsburgh, proving once again that Sharon Rodgers is too old for the NFL. Vikings decided to sit out their game against the Falcons as Atlanta controlled the game from stem to stern. Finally, Raiders took a shit on MNF against division rival Chargers.

Now that we have that diatribe out of the way we can cover our own league. We had a few shitshows, and one really, good matchup. The injury bug continues to haunt Andrew this year (he lost another player) three teams remain undefeated, while three remain winless. There are bound to be fireworks this week, so let us get to the recap and projections.

Game of the Week

Dave v Brandon

After the first quarter Brandon jumped out to a commanding 1-0 lead. Later in the match, and garbage points, Dave rebounded and left Brandon in the rearview mirror as he cruised to victory, 140.5-100.5. Final score showed Dave flipping the projections and getting their first week two victory in franchise history.

Snore of the Week

Mike v Andrew

From the first ticks off the clock Mike took the lead and never gave it back. Granted, Andrew's injury bug showed its ugly head as several of his players did not produce. It is hard to compete when the injury bug is staying in your locker room. This game ended just like it began, with a snore as Mike secured his first win of the season 130-71.

Matchups

Jason v Jake

Looking at this game it was close until St. Brown decided to go off for thirty-eight points followed by Nakua's twenty-nine. Jake did battle back but he was not able to close the gap when the whistle blew. Jason took the RSO projection of thirty-one-point victory and stretched it out to a forty-four-point win, 156.5-112.

Rich v Chaka

I must admit, I did not see Chaka's offense going off as they did. Who would have thought Lawrence would score twenty-five, followed by Williams twenty-four, and finished with Achane's twenty-eight. Rich's offense put up slightly respectable numbers, but it was just not enough as Chaka cruised 180-124.

Sky v Dino

Man, what a game. These two battled like two boxers fighting in a phone booth. Going into the fourth quarter, Sky had a lead of seventeen, Dino had a few players going late, and thanks to garbage time points, Dino came back and pulled off the upset. Sky was a thirty-eight favorite, but the final dust settled, dino was victorious by three, 131-128.

Next Week

Jake v Dave

I have a feeling this is going to be an exciting game as Dave is 1-3 in week three, while Jake is 3-1 in that same period. However, RSO has Dave a nineteen-point favorite. I agree with RSO having Dave as the favorite, but I think it will be closer than nineteen points.

Andrew v Brandon

My candidate for Snore of the Week as both teams are struggling to get things going this season. I am taking Brandon for the win, and RSO agrees with me as they have Brandon by twenty-six. Andrew's team is in scrambling mode as they try to eradicate the injury bug and get some point scorers.

Sky v Chaka

I tell you what, if these two offenses go off, we could see a game ending 200-190. These are quickly becoming scoring machines, and there will be some fireworks in this game. RSO has Sky by three points, but I am bucking that and going Chaka by fifteen.

Rich v Jason

I have a feeling this game is going to a ho-hum of a matchup. Jason is cruising on all cylinders right now and Rich is still trying to get into gear. Jason is taking this one by twenty-five. Oh, and RSO has Jason the favorite, but with a bigger gap as they project forty-two-point difference.

Mike v Dino

This is my GOTW candidate as both teams are equally matched, and both have solid records in week three. Mike takes this game by five points, but after last week's win for Dino, this could easily be Dino by five. RSO is projecting Mike by eight points.

Playoffs

Fuck off with that, it is too early.

The Sack

The race for the best hat on Earth has begun, and these teams are leading the way.

- Andrew
- Rich

Mish Picks

| CORRECT | INCORRECT |
|---------|-----------|
| 2 | 3 |

Well, that week bit me in the ass as I ended up below .500. Dino, Dave, and Chaka all bucked the projections this week, next week will be more favorable.

Final Handy

What a week we had, comebacks, drubbings, and WTF moments, but the league is starting to take shape in week three of the honeymoon as we have three teams who have yet to lose, and three teams who have not won. Meanwhile, the other four teams are sitting at 1-1. I can already see the headache coming for the final two playoff spots, but the league will be more defined when that time comes. With that, may your beer be cold, Karma finds you today, and fuck your team....’mish out.
